

Indigenization and Reconciliation:

Uses regional land acknowledgment and greetings (from local Indigenous languages) in verbal communication (i.e., welcoming learners, guests, etc.).

Re-written S.M.A.R.T. Goal

By August 31, 2026, I will respectfully strengthen Indigenous inclusion in my teaching by delivering an accurate regional land acknowledgment at the start of each new course section, learning and using at least two local Indigenous greetings appropriately, and integrating at least one Indigenous perspective/resource into each course unit, with support from Indigenous Services or approved Saskatchewan Polytechnic resources.

S.M.A.R.T. Breakdown

S (Specific): Use land acknowledgment, local greetings, and Indigenous perspectives in course delivery.

M (Measurable): Track course openings, greetings learned, and one Indigenous resource per unit.

A (Achievable): Realistic with guidance from Indigenous Services and planned preparation time.

R (Relevant): Supports reconciliation, respectful practice, and inclusive learning at Saskatchewan Polytechnic.

T (Time-Bound): Start May 4, 2026, complete first cycle by June 31, 2026.
